

CSB Island Entertainment ApS policy for personal data

Policy for personal data

One of the major goals of CSB Island Entertainment ApS is to maintain the highest possible level of safety for our guests, customers and employees - and this includes the protection of personal data.

This policy explains clearly how CSB handles your personal data.

Data responsibility

We take the protection of your data very seriously. We handle personal data and have therefore adopted this policy for privacy protection, which tells you how we handle your data.

Contact information

CSB is data responsible and we ensure that your personal data is handled in accordance with legislation.

If you wish to see your stored data or would like to have your data deleted, please contact:

CSB Island Entertainment ApS

Th. Schmidts Vej 2

6720 Fanø

Telephone +45 75 16 6722

Mail: hhl@csb.dk

We ensure fair and transparent data handling

When we ask you to provide us with personal data, we will inform you what data about you we store and for what purpose. You will receive information about this when we ask for your personal data.

Handling of personal data

CSB 's personal data policy guides how CSB is allowed to register and use information about customers and business connections.

Personal data

Personal data is any type of information that can be linked to you in any way.

When you use our website, we gather and handle a range of such information. This happens, for example, when you access content, sign up for our newsletter, participate in competitions or questionnaires as well as when you use services or register via the website.

Registration of information

CSB registers the following types of information about you:

- Data you type in when you sign up for a newsletter
- Data we receive when entering into a collaboration

- Traces that your computer leaves (Cookies).

By and large, all the information that is given is legally considered to be confidential. Only information concerning, for example religious, ethical or political information is sensitive information.

CSB handles the following categories of personal information about you:

Normal personal information:

Name, address, email address, information about your company and relevant contact people.

Use of this information

Here you can read about how the data that CSB gathers is used.

All information is used solely internally in CSB and by CSB partners and only to optimise the site, to protect rights, improve user service and ensure increased user friendliness.

CSB partners are:

IT Forum

The stated third party does not send information on to others. CSB has data handling agreements with the aforementioned suppliers.

Only CSB employees who need to use the information in connection with their work have access to the information. Information is not passed on or sold on to others.

Storage period

Information is only kept for the period allowed according to legislation and authorities, and the information is deleted when it is no longer required. This period depends on the character of the information and the reason for its storage. It is therefore not possible to provide a general timeframe for when the information is deleted.

Safety

CSB has a safety policy and detailed guidelines for personal data and, in addition, has undertaken technical precautionary measures to protect personal data against unauthorised access, changes, use or deletion. CSB does not pass on personal data to the authorities unless it is required by law. CSB does not pass on information to other parties beyond that described in the policy for personal data.

We have undertaken technical and organisational precautionary measures to ensure that your information accidentally or illegally is deleted, publicised, lost, changed, destroyed, impaired or can be accessed, known, misused or otherwise treated illegally by unauthorised parties.

Cookies

CSB-island.dk uses "cookies", which are text files that are saved on your computer, mobile phone, etc., with the purpose of recognising it, remembering settings and gathering statistics.

Cookies cannot contain harmful coding, for example viruses.

It is possible to delete or block cookies. See this guide:

<http://minecookies.org/cookiehandtering>

If you delete or block cookies, the website may not function optimally and there may be content that you cannot access.

Your rights

You have the right to access your personal data

You have, at any time, the right to be informed of what data we have about you, where this data comes from and what we use it for. You can also be informed of how long we keep your personal data and who receives data about you, where we pass this data on in Denmark and abroad. If you so request, we can inform you about what data about you we use. Access may though be limited out of consideration to the protection of personal data of others, for reasons of business confidentiality or immaterial rights.

You can exercise these rights by contacting us. You can find our contact information at the top in the section concerning Data Responsibility.

You have the right to have incorrect personal data corrected or deleted.

If you believe that personal data we have about you is incorrect, you have the right to have this data corrected. You can do this by contacting us and informing us of what data is incorrect and how it can be corrected.

If you no longer want us to store this information, please contact Carsten Svoldgaard, who is responsible for data at CSB. Please note that there are some requirements for data retention that means that the information may not be permitted to be deleted.

When you contact us to request that your personal data is corrected or deleted, we will check whether these requirements are fulfilled and if so, make the changes or deletions as soon as possible.

Insight and objections

You have the right to object to our handling of your personal data. You can also withdraw your permission of the use of data about you. If the information about you is incorrect, you have the right to have the information corrected or deleted. You can use the contact information at the top to send your objection. If the objection is legitimate, we will ensure that we will stop using your personal data.

If you wish to complain about our treatment of your personal data, you can also contact the Danish Data Protection Agency, Datatilsynet.

With this described policy for personal data, CSB is compliant with the law for the handling of personal data (Persondataloven), which is the current applicable legislation.